Item 1 - Report to Shareholders

August 12, 2014

Dear Shareholder,

The Fund's net asset value (the "NAV") was $11.05 as of June 30th. The market price for the Fund's shares ended the period at $10.04, representing a market price discount of 9.1%. During the period the Fund's regular monthly dividend remained at $.065 per share. The annualized dividend yield for a common stock purchase at the year-end 2013 price of $9.65 was 8.1%.

High yield bond investors have enjoyed several years of attractive total returns. However, the very low interest rate environment of recent years has resulted in coupons on new issue high yield bonds at historically low levels. While the yield spread between U.S. Treasury securities and high yield bonds, as measured by the J.P. Morgan Global High Yield Index, remains attractive, it is well below the long term average yield spread that investors have required in the past. As discussed in detail below, the Fund's investment advisor believes there are currently fewer attractive investment opportunities in the U.S. high yield bond market than there were earlier in this market cycle. There are positive underpinnings to the market, but valuations are relatively high, coupons are low, and the terms of some new issues are not as favorable to the investor as they are to the issuer. In response to these market conditions, the Fund reduced its leverage and carried more cash during the period than is typical, with the consequence that the Fund's portfolio generated less income during the first half of the year compared with earlier periods.

As always, we remind shareholders that there is no certainty that the dividend will remain at the current level. The dividend can be affected by portfolio results, the cost and amount of leverage, market conditions, how fully invested the portfolio is and operating expenses among other factors. The Fund's leverage has increased the Fund's total return in the recent period of positive high yield market performance. Of course the opposite would be true in an unfavorable high yield market.

As of June 30th, the Fund had borrowed $90 million through its credit facility (the "Facility") with the Bank of Nova Scotia, a reduction of $10 million from year-end. Amounts borrowed under the Facility bear interest at an adjustable rate based on a margin above LIBOR. The interest rate on the Facility at the end of the period was 1.05%. While the spread between the cost of leverage and the portfolio's current yield at the end of the period was attractive, there is no guarantee that it will remain at this level. An increase in the cost of the leverage or reduction in the portfolio's yield will reduce the spread and may reduce the income available for the common dividend.

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Total return assumes the reinvestment of dividends.

The Credit Suisse High Yield Index and Citigroup 10 Year Treasury Index are unmanaged indices. Unlike the Fund, the indices have no trading activity, expenses or leverage.

* Because the Fund's shares may trade at either a discount or premium to the Fund's net asset value per share, returns based upon the stock price and dividends will tend to differ from those derived from the underlying change in net asset value and dividends.

Market Review

High yield bonds posted solid returns during the six month period as several lingering tailwinds continued to persist in powering results for the asset class, including limited defaults, generally healthy earnings and free cash flow on the part of issuers, and continued low financing costs. Despite the predominantly favorable climate, a recent isolated event, the default of TXU, led to an uptick in the overall default rate.

High yield bonds are enjoying a meaningful amount of technical support as investors' persistent search for yield continues to drive capital into the asset class. This appetite has pushed below investment-grade bond yields to historically low levels and stretched valuations to some extent. From a credit spread perspective, the average spread-to-worst for the J.P. Morgan Global High Yield Index, a measure of the differential in yields between the average below investment grade bond and comparable Treasuries, tightened to 420 basis points during the second quarter, roughly 180 basis points inside of the 20-year average. A basis point equates to one one-hundredth of a percentage point. While still well above the all-time low of 263 basis points achieved in June 2007, we believe that further substantial spread tightening is unlikely for the broad high yield market in 2014. Moreover, the par-weighted average price of this index was slightly above $105 at the end of June a significant premium that suggests muted capital appreciation potential in the near term. Even with current trading levels suggesting low expectations for further capital appreciation, yields on below investment-grade corporate bonds compare favorably with most fixed income sectors, providing an attractive carry in a fundamentally stable market.

Returns were positive across all major industries and credit quality segments in the second quarter and for the first half, with higher-rated securities edging out CCCs in the second quarter, but slightly under-performing their lower quality counterparts over the first six months. Lingering concerns about the pace of economic growth and questions about the timing and pace of Fed rate policy gained momentum, particularly in the second quarter, leading to another leg down in U.S. Treasury yields. This rate effect was likely the biggest single contributing factor behind the gains in higher-quality, longer-duration bonds relative to the lower-quality CCC-rated category.

According to J.P. Morgan, $121.2 billion of new high yield bonds came to the market in the second quarter, approximately $30 billion more than the previous quarter. Although year-to-date issuance is behind last year's record-setting pace, a substantial pickup in merger and acquisition (M&A) financing helped narrow the difference. Underwriters continued to test the limits on new deal terms, keeping our investment team highly cautious and selective. On the other hand, issuers have generally allocated proceeds from recent debt offerings in a prudent manner, with a keen focus on interest expense and leverage.

As expected, Energy Future Holdings (formerly known as TXU) filed for Chapter 11 in April. This U.S. power producer was the subject of the largest-ever leveraged buyout in 2007 and now represents the largest below investment-grade default in history, affecting nearly $40 billion of loans and bonds. J.P. Morgan's par-weighted U.S. high yield bond default rate increased significantly from 0.61% to 2.15% in April as a result, but the market reaction was largely muted as this event was well telegraphed. Additionally, the default rate is expected to remain relatively stable for the rest of the year due to a minimal amount of near-term debt maturities. The Energy Future Holdings organizational structure is highly complex, with various underlying holding companies. This company's loan and bond prices vary widely based on capital structure position and claims on assets, with some securities still trading above par value even after the bankruptcy filing.

Strategy Review

Merger and acquisition activity has picked up in intensity and we expect it to remain an important theme in the months ahead. There have been several recent cases of high yield companies initiating complex acquisitions that are strategic in nature especially in the broad media space. Many media companies are making acquisitions to diversify their service offerings and/or broaden their geographic presence. We expect this to continue in the medium term and have constructed significant overweight allocations in the cable, wireless communications, and broadcasting sectors from a bottom-up perspective to take advantage of this trend.

In terms of noteworthy activity in the media space, affiliated European cable providers Numericable and Altice recently priced the largest-ever below investment-grade debt deal to finance an acquisition of SFR from Vivendi. On a combined basis, this multi-tranche, multi-currency new deal was $16.7 billion in size, according to J.P. Morgan more than twice the previous record. Each tranche was several times oversubscribed and subsequently appreciated in the secondary market due to overwhelming demand. The Fund participated in this new deal in meaningful size, increasing the portfolio's overall exposure to these names. We have maintained a favorable view on both Numericable and Altice based on their individual merits for quite some time, although our investment thesis partly hinged on their capacity to unlock value through prudent acquisitions.

SFR is one of the largest mobile and fixed-line telecommunications operators in France, allowing Numericable and Altice to bundle additional service offerings in a key market. While it may take time for the synergies to be recognized, our high yield credit analysts expect this transaction to boost the free cash flow generation and credit profiles of these affiliated cable names. Furthermore, because of the way this deal was structured with an equity component in addition to debt financing leverage and interest coverage remained at reasonable levels.

With valuations somewhat stretched for many U.S. noninvestment-grade bonds particularly higher-rated issues we have methodically expanded our opportunity set to cover European high yield and emerging markets credits. Importantly, our high yield team continues to leverage the T. Rowe Price's global research platform to its fullest extent to uncover attractive investments outside the U.S.

Outlook

With a year-to-date return of nearly 6%, as measured by the Credit Suisse High Yield Index, the asset class is outpacing expectations for coupon-like performance in 2014. We expect capital appreciation potential is limited for the remainder of this year, particularly in the U.S. where most bonds are trading at a premium to par value.

Technical factors have pushed valuations to less compelling levels in certain segments of the market, namely higher-rated bonds. Strong demand for new issues is setting the stage for issuer-friendly deal structures and pricing, increasing the importance of fundamental credit analysis and selectivity. Along these lines, a meaningful number of domestic, BB rated new issues have been priced with coupons in the 4% area. This presents a major imbalance between upside potential and downside risk for the issuers, many of which we do not expect are ever likely to reach investment grade. Higher-rated, longer-duration bonds also appear to be vulnerable to a potential sell-off in U.S. Treasuries. With this in mind, we are maintaining a cautious view on the higher-quality segment of the market.

Although valuations are somewhat stretched, underlying high yield fundamentals remain sound. Most issuers have focused on improving their balance sheets over the past several years rather than re-leveraging, and taken advantage of abundant liquidity and low capital costs. Robust equity markets have also contributed, allowing many high yield companies to issue stock, including numerous IPOs of leveraged buyout-related names. A portion of the proceeds from these IPOs is often used to pay down debt.

Following a surge in refinancing activity over the past several years, many issuers have pushed out near-term maturities for an extended period. Based on analysis from J.P. Morgan, roughly $86 billion of high yield bonds are set to mature in 2014 and 2015, representing less than 5% of the total market. The limited amount of bond maturities over the next two years is highly supportive of the low default environment.

As always, we aim to deliver high current income while seeking to contain volatility inherent in this market. Our team maintains a commitment to credit research and risk-conscious investing that has led to favorable returns for our high yield clients over various market cycles.

Sincerely,

Ellen E. Terry

(1) Significant Accounting and Other Policies

The New America High Income Fund, Inc. (the Fund) was organized as a corporation in the state of Maryland on November 19, 1987 and is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission as a diversified, closed-end investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940. The Fund commenced operations on February 26, 1988. The investment objective of the Fund is to provide high current income while seeking to preserve stockholders' capital through investment in a professionally managed, diversified portfolio of "high yield" fixed-income securities.

The Fund invests primarily in fixed maturity corporate debt securities that are rated less than investment grade. Risk of loss upon default by the issuer is significantly greater with respect to such securities compared to investment grade securities because these securities are generally unsecured and are often subordinated to other creditors of the issuer and because these issuers usually have high levels of indebtedness and are more sensitive to adverse economic conditions, such as a recession, than are investment grade issuers. In some cases, the collection of principal and timely receipt of interest is dependent upon the issuer attaining improved operating results, selling assets or obtaining additional financing.

The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries, subjecting it to greater risk than a Fund that is more diversified. See the schedule of investments for information on individual securities as well as industry diversification and credit quality ratings.

The Fund's financial statements have been prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States for investment companies that require the management of the Fund to, among other things, make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting periods. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Fund, which are in conformity with those generally accepted in the investment company industry.

(a) Valuation of Investments Except as otherwise described below, the Fund's investments are valued based on quoted bid prices provided by an independent pricing service. Independent pricing services provide prices based primarily on quotations from dealers and brokers, market transactions, data accessed from quotations services, offering sheets obtained from dealers and various relationships among similar securities. Investments whose primary market is on an exchange are valued at the last sale price on the day of valuation. Short-term investments with original maturities of 60 days or less are stated at amortized cost, which approximates the fair value of such investments. Following procedures approved by the Board of Directors, investments for which market quotations are not yet available (primarily fixed-income corporate bonds and notes) are stated at fair market value on the basis of subjective valuations furnished by securities dealers and brokers. Other investments, for which market quotations are not readily available are valued in good faith at fair market value using methods approved by the Board of Directors. Fair value measurement is further discussed in section (f) of this footnote.

(b) Foreign Currency Investment securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollar amounts at the date of valuation. Purchases and sales of investment securities and income and expense items denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U. S. dollar amounts on the respective dates of such transactions.

The Fund does not isolate that portion of the results of operations resulting from changes in foreign exchange rates on investments from the fluctuations arising from changes in market prices of securities held.

The New America High Income Fund, Inc.

June 30, 2014 (Unaudited)

Such fluctuations are included with the net realized and unrealized gain or loss from investments.

Reported net realized foreign exchange gains or losses arise from sales of foreign currencies, currency gains or losses realized between the trade and settlement dates on securities transaction, and the difference between the amounts of dividends, interest and foreign withholding taxes recorded on the Fund's books and the U.S. dollar equivalent of the amounts actually received or paid. Net unrealized foreign exchange gains and losses arise from changes in the fair values of assets and liabilities, other than investments in securities at fiscal period end, resulting from changes in exchange rates.

(c) Foreign Currency Forward Exchange Contracts The Fund may enter into foreign currency forward exchange contracts to hedge against foreign currency exchange rate risks on its non-U.S. dollar denominated investment securities. When entering into a forward currency contract, the Fund agrees to receive or deliver a fixed quantity of foreign currency for an agreed upon price on an agreed future date. The Fund's net equity therein, representing unrealized gain or loss on the contracts as measured by the difference between the forward foreign exchange rates at the dates of entry into the contracts and the forward rates at the reporting date, is included in the statement of assets and liabilities. Realized and unrealized gains and losses are included in the statement of operations. These instruments involve market risk, credit risk or both kinds of risks, in excess of the amount recognized in the statement of assets and liabilities. Risks arise from the possible inability of counterparties to meet the terms of their contracts and from movement in currency and securities values and interest rates.

(d) Securities Transactions and Net Investment Income Securities transactions are recorded on trade date. Realized gains or losses on sales of securities are calculated on the identified cost basis. Interest income is accrued on a daily basis. Discount on short-term investments is amortized to investment income. Premiums or discounts on corporate debt securities are amortized based on the interest method for financial reporting purposes. All income on original issue discount and step interest bonds is accrued based on the effective interest method. The Fund does not amortize market premiums or discounts for tax purposes. Dividend payments received in the form of additional securities are recorded on the ex-dividend date in an amount equal to the value of the security on such date.

(e) Federal Income Taxes It is the Fund's policy to comply with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute substantially all of its taxable income to its shareholders each year. Accordingly, no federal income tax provision is required.

(f) Fair Value Measurement The Fund applies ASC 820 "Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures". This standard establishes the definition of fair value, sets out a framework for measuring fair value and requires additional disclosures about fair value measurements.

The three levels of the fair value hierarchy under ASC 820 are described below:

Level 1 Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Fund has the ability to access.

Level 2 Observable inputs other than quoted prices included in level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly. These inputs may include quoted prices for the identical instrument on an inactive market, prices for similar instruments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, yield curves, default rates and similar data.

Level 3 Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability, to the extent relevant observable inputs are not available, representing the Fund's own assumptions about the assumptions a market participant would use in valuing the asset or liability, and would be based on the best information available.

The New America High Income Fund, Inc.

The availability of observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including, for example, the type of security, whether the security is new and not yet established in the marketplace, the liquidity of markets, and other characteristics particular to the security. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised in determining fair value is greatest for instruments categorized in level 3.

The inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement falls in its entirety, is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety.

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

A description of the valuation techniques applied to the Fund's major asset and liability categories is as follows.

Debt securities (corporate, convertible & bank debt). The fair value of debt securities is provided by independent pricing services using quotations from dealers and brokers, market transactions, data from quotations services, offering sheets and various relationships between securities. While most corporate bonds are categorized in level 2 of the fair value hierarchy, there may be instances where less observable inputs necessitate a level 3 categorization.

Equity securities (preferred and common stock). Equity securities for which the primary market is on an exchange will be valued at the last sale price on the day of valuation and are categorized in level 1 of the fair value hierarchy. Other equity securities traded in inactive markets or valued by independent pricing services using methods similar to debt securities are categorized in level 2. The fair value of equity securities in which observable inputs are unavailable are categorized in level 3.

Short-term investments. Short-term investments are valued using amortized cost, which approximates fair value. To the extent the inputs are observable and timely the values would be categorized in level 2 of the fair value hierarchy.

Forwards are valued at the unrealized gain or loss on the contract as measured by the difference between the forward exchange rates at the date of entry into the contract and the forward rates at the reporting date. Forwards are categorized in level 2 of the fair value hierarchy.

The following is a summary of the inputs used as of June 30, 2014 in valuing the Fund's investments:

Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Total Value (000's)
----------------	----------------	----------------	--------------------------------

	Quoted Prices (000's)	Significant Observable Inputs (000's)	Significant Unobservable Inputs (000's)

The New America High Income Fund, Inc.

June 30, 2014 (Unaudited)

The Fund owned no Level 3 securities at June 30, 2014.

The following is a reconciliation of Fund investments using Level 3 inputs for the period:

	Equity Securities
Balance, December 31, 2013	$
Sales
Change in unrealized appreciation (depreciation)
Realized gain (loss)
Transfers to Level 3 from Level 2
Balance, June 30, 2014	$

Level 1 and Level 2 assets are evaluated on a quarterly basis for changes in listings or delistings on national exchanges.

Transfers between levels are recognized at the value at the end of the reporting period. During the six months ended June 30, 2014, the Fund recognized no transfers to Level 1 from Level 2.

(2) Tax Matters and Distributions

At June 30, 2014, the total cost of securities (including temporary cash investments) for federal income tax purposes was approximately $311,590,000. Aggregate gross unrealized gain on securities in which there was an excess of value over tax cost was approximately $18,134,000. Aggregate gross unrealized loss on securities in which there was an excess of tax cost over value was approximately $1,009,000. Net unrealized gain on investments for tax purposes at June 30, 2014 was approximately $17,125,000.

At December 31, 2013, the Fund had approximate capital loss carryovers available to offset future capital gains, if any, to the extent provided by regulations:

Carryover Available	Expiration Date
$ 5,110,000	December 31, 2016
26,830,000	December 31, 2017
$ 31,940,000

It is the policy of the Fund to reduce future distributions of realized gains to shareholders to the extent of the unexpired capital loss carry forward.

The tax character of distributions paid to common shareholders in 2013 and common and preferred shareholders in 2012 of approximately $20,097,000 and $22,638,000, respectively, was from ordinary income.

As of December 31, 2013, the components of distributable earnings on a tax basis were approximately:

Undistributed Ordinary income	$
Unrealized Gain	11,367,000
Capital Losses Carry Forward	(31,940,000)

Investments and Currencies

Loss Deferrals	(804,000)
	$(21,377,000)

The difference between components of distributable earnings on a tax basis and the amounts reflected in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities are primarily due to market discount adjustments, wash sales and post-October losses. The Fund has recorded several reclassifications in the capital accounts to present undistributed net investment income and accumulated net realized losses on a tax basis. These reclassifications have no impact on the net asset value of the Fund. For the year ended December 31, 2013, permanent differences between book and tax accounting have been reclassified as follows:

Increase (decrease) in:

Undistributed net investment income	$ (679,000)
Accumulated net realized loss from securities transactions	$ 679,000

Distributions on common stock are declared based upon annual projections of the Fund's investment company taxable income. The Fund records all dividends and distributions payable to shareholders on the ex-dividend date and declares and distributes income dividends monthly.

The New America High Income Fund, Inc.

June 30, 2014 (Unaudited)

The Fund is required to amortize market discounts and premiums for financial reporting purposes. This results in additional interest income in some years and decreased interest income in others for financial reporting purposes only. The Fund does not amortize market discounts or premiums for tax purposes. Therefore, the additional or decreased interest income for financial reporting purposes does not result in additional or decreased common stock dividend income.

The Fund recognizes the tax benefits of uncertain tax positions only where the position is "more likely than not" to be sustained assuming examination by tax authorities. Management has analyzed the Fund's tax positions, and has concluded that no liability for unrecognized tax benefits should be recorded related to uncertain tax positions taken on returns filed for open tax years 2010-2012, or expected to be taken in the Fund's 2013 tax returns. The Fund is not aware of any tax positions for which it is reasonably possible that the total amounts of unrecognized tax benefits will change materially in the next twelve months.

(3) Investment Advisory Agreement

T. Rowe Price Associates, Inc. (T. Rowe Price), the Fund's Investment Advisor, earned approximately $597,000 in management fees during the six months ended June 30, 2014. Management fees paid by the Fund to T. Rowe Price were calculated at 0.50% on the first $50,000,000 of the Fund's average weekly net assets, 0.40% on the next $50 million and 0.30% on average weekly net assets in excess of $100 million. T. Rowe Price's fee is calculated based on assets attributable to the Fund's common stock and senior securities. At June 30, 2014, the fee payable to T. Rowe Price was approximately $98,000, which was included in accrued expenses on the accompanying statement of assets and liabilities.

(4) Bank Credit Agreement

On October 10, 2012 the Fund entered into a credit agreement with The Bank of Nova Scotia pursuant to which the Fund may borrow up to an aggregate amount of $100,000,000. On November 8, 2012 the Fund borrowed $85,425,000 through this credit facility to finance the scheduled redemption of all outstanding shares of its auction term preferred stock. On May 14, 2013 the Fund borrowed an additional $14,575,000 and on May 9, 2014 reduced it by $10,000,000. The credit facility provides for an initial term of one year and may be extended with respect to amounts outstanding at the end of the initial term for an additional year at the option of the Fund. On October 9, 2013 the Fund extended the term of the facility an additional year. Amounts borrowed under the credit facility bear interest at an adjustable rate based on a margin above LIBOR. The rate paid on these borrowings is approximately 1.05% and will be in effect until July 9, 2014 at which time the rate will be reset. For the six months ended June 30, 2014 the weighted average rate on the loan was approximately 1.06% and the maximum amount borrowed during the period was $100,000,000. On June 30, 2014 the total amount outstanding on the loan was $90,000,000.

The Fund pays a commitment fee to The Bank of Nova Scotia at a rate of .15% per annum for any unused portion of borrowings not to exceed $100,000,000. For the six months ended June 30, 2014 the Fund paid approximately $2,000 for this commitment.

The Fund has granted to The Bank of Nova Scotia a security interest in the investments and other assets of the Fund in accordance with the Credit Agreement.

(5) Auction Term Preferred Stock (ATP)

The Fund announced that on November 9, 2012 it consummated, as provided under the terms of its charter, the scheduled redemption of all outstanding shares of its ATP at the liquidation preference per share of

The New America High Income Fund, Inc.

$25,000, plus all accrued and unpaid dividends to the date of redemption. As discussed in footnote 4, the aggregate amount of the redemption was financed through a credit facility with The Bank of Nova Scotia.

(6) Purchases and Sales of Securities

Purchases and proceeds of sales or maturities of long-term securities during the six months ended June 30, 2014 were approximately:

Cost of purchases	$ 79,314,000
Proceeds of sales or maturities	$102,437,000

(7) Related Party Transactions

The Fund paid approximately $96,000 during the six months ended June 30, 2014 to an officer of the Fund for the provision of certain administrative services.

(8) Derivative Contracts (Currency Amounts in Thousands)

Forward Currency Exchange Contracts As of June 30, 2014 the Fund had forward currency exchange contracts outstanding as follows:

Supplemental Information (Unaudited)

Availability of Portfolio Holdings

The Fund provides a complete schedule of its portfolio holdings quarterly. The lists of holdings as of the end of the second and fourth quarters appear in the Fund's semi-annual and annual reports to shareholders, respectively. The schedules of portfolio holdings as of the end of the first and third quarters are filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") on Form N-Q (the "Forms") within 60 days of the end of the first and third quarters. Shareholders can look up the Forms on the SEC's web site at www.sec.gov. The Forms may also be reviewed and copied at the SEC's public reference room in Washington, D.C. You may call the SEC at 1-800-SEC-0330 for information about the SEC's web site and their public reference room. In addition, the Forms may be reviewed on the Fund's web site at www.newamerica-hyb.com.

Compliance with CFTC Regulation of Transactions in Commodity Interests

The Fund does not currently intend to engage in transactions in commodity interests such as futures contracts, options on futures contracts, and swaps. However, the Fund may in the future enter into interest rate transactions, such as swaps, caps, collars and floors for the purpose or with the effect of hedging its portfolio and/or its payment obligations with respect to senior securities. In addition, the Fund has reserved the right, subject to the approval of the Board of Directors, to purchase and sell financial futures contracts and options on such futures contracts for the purpose of hedging its portfolio securities (or portfolio securities which it expects to acquire) against anticipated changes in prevailing interest rates. To the extent it engages in transactions in commodity interests, the Fund expects their use to be limited such that the Fund may claim the exclusion from the definition of the term "commodity pool operator" available under Regulation 4.5 of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission under the Commodity Exchange Act, and will not therefor be subject to regulation as a pool operator under the Commodity Exchange Act.

Common Stock Transactions

The Fund may purchase shares of its Common Stock in the open market when the Common Stock trades at a discount to net asset value or at other times if the Fund determines such purchases are advisable. There can be no assurance that the Fund will take such action in the event of a market discount to net asset value or that Fund purchases will reduce a discount.
