10% of the Fund's shares of stock outstanding as of October 31 of the prior year. Such purchases may be made opportunistically at certain discounts to net asset value per share when, in the reasonable judgment of management based on historical discount levels and current market conditions, such repurchases may enhance stockholder value. During the fiscal year ended October 31, 2018, the Fund did not repurchase any shares.

Unclaimed Share Accounts

Please be advised that abandoned or unclaimed property laws for certain states require financial organizations to transfer (escheat) unclaimed property (including Fund shares) to the state. Each state has its own definition of unclaimed property, and Fund shares could be considered unclaimed property due to account inactivity (e.g., no owner-generated activity for a certain period), returned mail (e.g., when mail sent to a shareholder is returned to the Fund's transfer agent as undeliverable), or a combination of both. If your Fund shares are categorized as unclaimed, your financial advisor or the Fund's transfer agent will follow the applicable state's statutory requirements to contact you, but if unsuccessful, laws may require that the shares be escheated to the appropriate state. If this happens, you will have to contact the state to recover your property, which may involve time and expense. For more information on unclaimed property and how to maintain an active account, please contact your financial advisor or the Fund's transfer agent.

Portfolio Holdings Disclosure

The Fund's complete schedule of portfolio holdings for the second and fourth quarters of each fiscal year is included in the Fund's semi-annual and annual reports to stockholders. Brexit

The ongoing negotiations surrounding the UK's exit from the European Union (EU) (Brexit) have yet to provide clarity on what the outcome will be for the UK or Europe. The UK remains a member of the EU until the legally established departure date of March 29, 2019 and, until such date, all existing EU-derived laws and regulations continue to apply in the UK. Those laws may continue to apply for a transitional period, depending on whether a deal is struck and, if so, what that deal is. In any event, the UK's on-shoring of EU legislation currently envisages no policy changes to EU law. However, the EU has not yet provided any material cushion from the effects of Brexit for financial services as a matter of EU law. Whether or not a Fund invests in securities of issuers located in Europe (whether the EU, Eurozone or UK) or with significant exposure to European, EU, Eurozone or UK issuers or countries, the unavoidable uncertainties and events related to Brexit could negatively affect the value and liquidity of the Fund's investments, increase taxes and costs of business and cause volatility in currency exchange rates and interest rates. Brexit could adversely affect the performance of contracts in existence at the date of Brexit and European, UK or worldwide political, regulatory, economic or market conditions and could contribute to instability in political institutions, regulatory agencies and financial markets. Brexit could also lead to legal uncertainty and politically divergent national laws and regulations as a new relationship between the UK and EU is defined and the UK determines which EU laws to replace or replicate. Any of these effects of Brexit, and others that cannot be anticipated, could adversely affect the Fund's business, results of operations and financial condition. In addition, the risk that Standard Life Aberdeen plc, the parent of the companies that provide investment advisory and administration services to the Fund and which is headquartered in the UK, fails to adequately prepare for Brexit could have significant customer, reputation and capital impacts for Standard Life Aberdeen plc and its subsidiaries, including those providing services to the Fund;

however, we have detailed contingency planning in place to seek to manage the consequences of Brexit on the Fund and to avoid any disruption on the Fund and to the services we provide. Given the fluidity and complexity of the situation, however, we cannot assure that the Fund will not be adversely impacted despite our preparations.

Market/economic review

In the year under review, Japanese equities performed well earlier in the period, buoyed by the longest economic growth streak in 28 years. However, in recent months, as US President Trump's "America First" rhetoric has grown more strident and fears have risen of a global slowdown, equity markets in Japan and elsewhere have faced increasing volatility. In Japan, economic growth has stalled, with third quarter GDP falling 2.5% on an annualised basis as capital investment in a number of key sectors has been put on hold. The uncertainty surrounding the Chinese economy's slowdown and the impact of an increase in trade disputes has hurt Japanese corporates, many of which have had a growing presence in the mainland in recent years.

Fund performance

Aberdeen Japan Equity Fund returned -11.67% on a net asset value basis for the year ended October 31, 2018, and underperformed the -4.13% return of its benchmark, the Tokyo Stock Price Index (TOPIX). In broad terms, the portfolio has been focused on high quality, manufacturing companies with an international bias, often technology related. The share prices of these companies have suffered a recent set back although these are the very same companies that have performed well in the past on the back of their successful expansion plans.

Our focus on high quality companies narrowed the field to a range of businesses commanding market-leading positions that are also able to compete globally. In the industrials sector, where Japan excels, this has led us to a combination of companies with products that are integral to global supply chains, which indirectly have substantial exposure to China. Similarly in technology, we are invested in companies that benefit from increasing use of chips in a variety of applications, but which are, again, reliant on a globalized supply chain. The stock market valuations of these companies have suffered in the current climate and were the chief cause of the Fund's relative underperformance versus the benchmark index this fiscal year. In many cases, the underlying businesses remain robust and the medium term prospects are sound, although, in the throes of a trade war, these businesses are not without risk especially while investor sentiment remains negative. Elsewhere, the Fund's holdings in the healthcare sector, where we favor companies with innovation or that manufacture niche medical devices, have fared well. These companies are well positioned to benefit from the long-term trend of ageing populations, both domestically and overseas.

At the stock level, industrial producer Nabtesco's shares fell due to a decline in orders and a softer outlook for the robotics industry. The company also posted relatively lackluster corporate results that contrasted with robust results in 2017. However, we maintain our positive view about Nabtesco's prospects, particularly as it holds a 60% global share for precision-reduction gears used in the manufacture of industrial robots. The Fund's holding in Renesas Electronics Corp., a supplier of semiconductors used in automobiles, industrial equipment and broad-based applications, performed poorly due to worries of higher inventories. While inventory adjustments may continue in the short term, we believe that the company's medium-term prospects appear sound, given its wide technological moat¹ and market-leading technology, backed by favorable longer-term trends. We believe that Renesas Electronics Corp.'s recent acquisition of U.S.-based Integrated Device Technology is not only a good fit, but also extends the company's product suite. The position in Suruga Bank was also a notable detractor from the Fund's performance. The company's shares declined sharply amid reports about its approval of loans based on falsified applications and accompanying regulatory attention and we sold the Fund's position in May 2018.

Our holding in cosmetics company Shiseido continued to benefit from its successful restructuring and solid demand for its high-end cosmetics among Asian consumers. The position in Asahi Intecc Co. Ltd. also contributed positively as the medical device maker posted good results over the reporting period boosted by its rival's production issues. Asahi subsequently unveiled a five-year plan aimed at pursuing rapid market-share gains in existing markets, while adopting a direct-sales model in the U.S. and parts of Asia and Europe. In our opinion, the company has a robust and innovative two-year product pipeline and will develop new catheters for gastro-intestinal and robotic uses through its in-house research and development, as well as via co-development. The Fund's position in pharmaceutical firm Shionogi Inc. performed well as its flu drug, Xofluza, received U.S. regulatory approval two months ahead of expectations. The company also reported positive phase 3 trial² results for its once-a-month HIV treatment.

Fund activity

We initiated a holding in drugstore operator Welcia Holdings, a subsidiary of retail group Aeon. Welcia has continually posted above-industry average growth rates for both customer spending and traffic through its tailored stores, the use of promotions, and a dedicated focus on in-store pharmacies, a structural trend stemming from Japan's ageing society. The company also has a solid track record in mergers and acquisitions and subsequently, in improving the profitability of acquired stores. With the drugstore segment still comparatively more fragmented than other retail formats in Japan, we think that more dominant players, such as Welcia, are able to target opportunistic acquisitions. We believe that this should continue to complement its organic growth. Other new additions to the Fund over the reporting period include Yamaha Corp. and Coca-Cola Bottlers Japan Holdings Inc. Yamaha Corp. has narrowed its business focus to only musical instruments, where it has a solid global market share, and audio equipment, given its competitive edge in sound-synthesis technology, after years of difficult restructuring. We anticipate that Yamaha Corp. should be in a good position to benefit from healthy market growth in developed and emerging markets, even as it continues to restructure its production facilities. Additionally, the company has been gradually unwinding its cross-shareholdings³ and returning the proceeds to shareholders. Coca-Cola Bottlers Japan Holdings Inc. was formed from the merger between the country's two largest bottlers in 2017. The company has introduced international best practices to its operations, including the streamlining of its logistics footprint to increase profitability, while also prioritizing shareholder returns.

Report of the Investment Manager (unaudited) (concluded)

We exited the Fund's positions in sporting-goods retailer ASICS Corp., as its operating environment became increasingly challenging, and in pharmaceutical firm Astellas Pharma due to the threat of looming expiring patents or competition for core drugs, and a lack of promising treatments in the pipeline. We sold the Fund's shares in property development and management company Mitsubishi Estate Co. Ltd. We also exited the position in construction company Sekisui House after revelations of a fraudulent land purchase and a subsequent boardroom coup. Both of these issues raised our concerns about the company's internal controls and damaged our confidence in management.

Outlook

In the near term, we expect continued volatility to be a feature as external concerns continue to weigh on investor sentiment. However, we believe that the long term investment themes in Japan remain intact and that the Fund is well positioned to benefit from these. We continue to focus our in depth, fundamental research efforts on identifying companies which are world class leaders in their field, many of which are to be found in Japan.

Risk Considerations

Past performance is not an indication of future results.

International investing entails special risk considerations, including currency fluctuations, lower liquidity, economic and political risks, and differences in accounting methods. Concentrating investments in the Japan region subjects the Fund to more volatility and greater risk of loss than geographically diverse funds.

Equity stocks of small and mid-cap companies carry greater risk, and more volatility than equity stocks of larger, more established companies.

1 Cross-shareholding refers to two or more publicly traded corporations owning stock in each other.

The following table summarizes the average annual Fund total investment return compared to the TOPIX, the Fund's benchmark, for the 1-year, 3-year, 5-year and 10-year periods as of October 31, 2018.

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Net Asset Value (NAV)	-11.7%	4.4%	6.2%	7.0%
Market Price	-15.2%	4.1%	5.0%	5.9%
TOPIX Index	-4.1%	6.4%	5.8%	7.4%

*Returns represent past performance. Total investment return at NAV is based on changes in the NAV of Fund shares and assumes reinvestment of dividends and distributions, if any, at market prices pursuant to the dividend reinvestment program sponsored by the Fund's transfer agent. All return data includes fees charged to the Fund, which are listed in the Fund's Statement of Operations under Expenses. The Fund's total investment return is based on the reported NAV on each financial reporting period end. Total investment return at market value is based on changes in the market price at which the Fund's shares traded on the NYSE during the period and assumes reinvestment of dividends and distributions, if any, at market prices pursuant to the Fund's dividend reinvestment program. Because the Fund's shares trade in the stock market based on investor demand, the Fund may trade at a price higher or lower than its NAV. Therefore, returns are calculated based on both market price and NAV. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The performance information provided does not reflect the deduction of taxes that a stockholder would pay on distributions received from the Fund. The current performance of the Fund may be lower or higher than the figures shown. The Fund's yield, return, market price and NAV will fluctuate.
