The proponent shareholder’s advance notice must set forth specified information, including the proponent shareholder’s name and address, the class and number of shares of stock owned by the proponent shareholder, a description of any agreement, arrangement or understanding with respect to the proponent shareholder’s proposed nomination, a description of any hedging or other transaction or series of transactions the proponent shareholder may have in place to mitigate potential stock losses, and certain information with respect to any director nominee.

No Action by Shareholder Written Consent: The Restated Bylaws require that all action or election by the Company’s shareholders be taken or held, as applicable, at a proper meeting of the shareholder, and that no such action may be taken by written consent of the Company’s shareholders.

Number of Directors: The Restated Bylaws provide that the number of directors on the Board may be fixed from time to time by the Board, subject to the terms of the Company’s Articles of Incorporation.

Indemnification of Officers and Directors: The Restated Bylaws provide procedures for obtaining indemnification and advancement of expenses, address the enforcement of such rights and otherwise clarify the scope and nature of indemnification rights granted by the Company.
