Table of ContentsConstruction and Mining Equipment

Consolidated sales of construction and mining equipment continued to expand to ¥196.9 billion for the first quarter under review, up 10.7% over the previous corresponding period. Operating income by segment advanced 24.4%, to ¥9.9 billion, further improving profits.

Sales in Japan increased 7.1% over the corresponding period last year, to ¥52.8 billion for the first quarter. As the continued decline in size of the Japanese market stopped and demand for new equipment grew over the corresponding period last year centering on hydraulic excavators, Komatsu successfully captured this improvement on the market and boosted sales of new equipment. Sales of used equipment, on which Komatsu is focusing its efforts, also continued to expand.

Overseas sales further advanced to ¥144.0 billion, up 12.1% over the previous corresponding period. Komatsu accelerated sales in China where demand continued to sustain a high growth rate, and also expanded sales in the major markets of North America and Europe. In the Middle East, Africa, Commonwealth of Independent States (former Soviet republics) and some other regions, Komatsu capitalized on its advantages as a full-line manufacturer and secured steady sales. Sales in Southeast Asia declined from the corresponding period a year ago, reflecting a reduced number of large-scale business deals.

While demand for silicon wafers remained at a modest recovery, Komatsu was able to enjoy the results of its previous efforts of focusing production in Japan and Taiwan. In particular, Formosa Komatsu Silicon Corporation made an important contribution to the improved business results. In the polycrystalline silicon business, Advanced Silicon Materials LLC continued to focus on the production and sale of high-margin products and improved earnings with the benefits of reduced fixed costs resulting from the consolidation of plants.

Others (Industrial Machinery, Forklift Trucks, Etc.)

Consolidated sales from other operations for the first quarter grew 2.1% over the corresponding period last year, to ¥46.9 billion. Operating income by segment expanded 232.7% to ¥0.5 billion for the first quarter.
