Section 1 Registrant's Business and Operations

Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On December 21, 2004, Citrix Systems, Inc., a Delaware corporation ( Citrix ), announced a technology collaboration agreement (the Collaboration Agreement ) with Microsoft Corporation, a Washington corporation ( Microsoft ). In conjunction with the Collaboration Agreement, Citrix and Microsoft entered into a Microsoft Master Source Code Agreement (the 2004 Source Code Agreement ) and a License Form, each dated December 16, 2004 (together with the 2004 Source Code Agreement, the 2004 License Agreements ). The 2004 License Agreements renew Citrix's access to source code for current versions of Microsoft Windows Server that had previously been provided to Citrix pursuant to the Microsoft Master Source Code Agreement between Citrix and Microsoft dated May 15, 2002 (the 2002 Source Code Agreement ) and the License Form between Citrix and Microsoft dated May 15, 2002 (together with the 2002 Source Code Agreement, the 2002 License Agreements ). More information about the 2002 License Agreements is included in Item 1.02 below. There are no material relationships among Citrix, Microsoft or their respective affiliates or any of the parties to the 2004 License Agreements and related agreements, other than in respect of such agreements themselves.

The 2004 License Agreements permit Citrix, during the five-year term of such agreements, to use source code for Microsoft Windows Server 2000 and Windows Server 2003, including terminal services source code and future versions of Windows Server 2003 (collectively, Microsoft Source Code ), for purposes of developing Citrix's terminal services and client software products. Microsoft may terminate the 2004 License Agreements before the expiration date of the five-year term for a material breach by Citrix and upon a change of control of Citrix. The 2004 License Agreements do not provide for payments to or from Microsoft.

Item 1.02. Termination of a Material Definitive Agreement.

On December 16, 2004, Citrix and Microsoft terminated the 2002 License Agreements, which were originally scheduled to expire on May 15, 2005 pursuant to their terms. The 2002 License Agreements formalized Citrix's access to source code for Microsoft Windows Server 2000 and future server operating systems, including access to terminal services source code. The 2002 License Agreements did not provide for payments to or from Microsoft. Simultaneously with the termination of the 2002 License Agreements, Citrix and Microsoft entered into the 2004 License Agreements described in Item 1.01 above in order to renew the arrangements established by the 2002 License Agreements. The Collaboration Agreement provides for access by Citrix to the source code for the forthcoming version of Microsoft Windows Server codenamed Longhorn .

There are no material relationships among Citrix, Microsoft or their respective affiliates or any of the parties to the 2002 License Agreements and related agreements, other than in respect of such agreements themselves. Citrix incurred no early termination penalties in connection with the termination of the 2002 License Agreements.
