Item 2.05. Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities

(a), (b), (c) and (d) On February 15, 2010, the Company committed to the first phase of a new global merger restructuring program (the Merger Restructuring Program) designed to integrate and optimize the organization and its cost structure. As a result, Merck will incur certain costs associated with exit or disposal activities. As of December 31, 2009, Merck had approximately 100,000 employees. As part of the first phase of its Merger Restructuring Program, the Company expects to reduce its existing workforce by approximately 15 percent plus eliminate approximately 2,500 vacancies across all areas of the Company worldwide by the end of 2012. The reductions will primarily come from the elimination of duplicative positions in sales, administrative and headquarters organizations, as well as from the consolidation of certain manufacturing facilities and research and development operations.

Merck expects this first phase of its restructuring program to yield ongoing annual savings in 2012 of approximately $2.6 billion to $3.0 billion.

Merck said that certain actions, such as the ongoing reevaluation of manufacturing and research and development facilities worldwide, have not yet been completed but will be included later this year in other phases of the Merger Restructuring Program.

The first phase of the Merger Restructuring Program is expected to be completed by the end of 2012 with total pretax costs estimated at $2.6 billion to $3.3 billion. Costs of $1.5 billion related to these actions, primarily employee separation costs, were recorded in the fourth quarter 2009. The company estimates that approximately 85 percent of the cumulative pretax costs will result in future cash outlays, primarily related to employee separation expense. Approximately 15 percent relate to the accelerated depreciation of facilities that will be closed or divested and are non-cash.
