Item 8.01 Other Events

On May 17, 2012, Hercules Offshore, Inc. (the Company) reported that the Hercules 185 (the Rig) experienced damage to its legs during the oceanic voyage from the U.S. Gulf of Mexico to Angola. After discovery of the damage to the Rig, the Company conducted a survey of the Rig's legs above and below the water line. During the survey, the Company discovered extensive damage to various portions of the Rig's legs. At this time, the Company believes that it is unfeasible to repair the damage and return the Rig to service. The Company has notified its customer regarding the condition of the Rig and the Company intends on negotiating with the customer regarding the appropriate resolution of the existing contract for the Rig. Additionally, the Company has notified its insurance underwriters of the additional damage and will make a claim under the Company's insurance policies once the full extent of the damage has been identified. While the Company believes that the damage is covered by its insurance policies, until a full investigation into the incident and the damage is completed, it is difficult to predict the amount of any insurance recovery. The Rig has a net book value of $47 million. In addition, the Company has recorded an asset of approximately $5 million related to mobilization and contract preparation costs, and a liability of $3 million related to a lump-sum fee received from the Rig's customer for contract-specific capital equipment.

The information and statements made in this Current Report on Form 8-K that are not historical facts are forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These forward-looking statements include statements concerning the Company's contract with its customer and insurance impacts with respect to the Rig damage. Such statements are subject to a number of risks, uncertainties and assumptions, including without limitation, the applicability of insurance coverage, the ability of the Company to successfully negotiate a resolution with its customer, and other factors described in the Company's annual report on Form 10-K and its most recent periodic reports and other documents filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, which are available free of charge at the SEC's website at www.sec.gov or the company's website at www.herculesoffshore.com. The Company cautions you that forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and that actual results or developments may differ materially from those projected or implied in these statements.
