FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

Some of the information contained or incorporated by reference in this report may constitute forward-looking statements within the meaning of the safe harbor provisions of The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Although we have based these forward-looking statements on our expectations and projections about future events, it is possible that actual events may differ materially from our expectations. In many cases, we include together with the forward-looking statements themselves a discussion of factors that may cause actual events to differ from our forward-looking statements. Examples of forward-looking statements include the following:

projections of our commercial, operating or financial performance, our financing, our capital structure or our other financial items or ratios;

statements of our plans, our objectives or goals, including those relating to acquisitions, competition and rates;

statements concerning regulation or regulatory developments;

statements about our future economic performance or that of Mexico or other countries in which we operate;

competitive developments in the telecommunications sector in each of the markets where we operate or into which we may expand;

other factors and trends affecting the telecommunications industry generally and our financial condition in particular; and statements of assumptions underlying the foregoing statements.

We use words such as believe, anticipate, plan, expect, intend, target, estimate, project, predict, forecast, guideline, should, and other similar expressions to identify forward-looking statements, but they are not the only way we identify such statements.

Forward-looking statements involve inherent risks and uncertainties. We caution you that a number of important factors could cause actual results to differ materially from the plans, objectives, expectations, estimates and intentions expressed in such forward-looking statements. These factors, some of which are discussed under Risk Factors in our 2012 Form 20-F, include economic and political conditions and government policies in Mexico, Brazil, Colombia and elsewhere, inflation rates, exchange rates, regulatory developments, technological improvements, customer demand and competition. We caution you that the foregoing list of factors is not exclusive and that other risks and uncertainties may cause actual results to differ materially from those in forward-looking statements.

Forward-looking statements speak only as of the date they are made. We undertake no obligation to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information or future events or for any other reason.

You should evaluate any statements made by us in light of these important factors.

OPERATING AND FINANCIAL REVIEW AS OF MARCH 31, 2013 AND FOR THE THREE MONTHS ENDED MARCH 31, 2012 AND 2013

The following is a summary and discussion of our financial position as of March 31, 2013 and our results of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2012 and 2013. The following discussion should be read in conjunction with our audited annual consolidated financial statements as of December 31, 2012 and for the three years then ended, which are included in our 2012 Form 20-F.

In the opinion of our management, the unaudited condensed consolidated interim financial information discussed below includes all adjustments, consisting only of normal and recurring adjustments, necessary for the fair presentation of this financial information in a manner consistent with the International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board presentation made in our audited annual consolidated financial statements included in our 2012 Form 20-F, except for the adoption of certain new standards and interpretations effective as of January 1, 2013. In particular, we applied International Accounting Standard No. 19 (revised), Employee Benefits (IAS 19R), which modifies existing IFRS on the recognition of changes in the defined benefit obligation and plan assets for employee benefits by, among other things, eliminating the corridor approach related to the recognition of certain actuarial items. Accordingly, the initial application of IAS 19R resulted in the recognition of unamortized actuarial losses in other comprehensive income items included under Equity in our consolidated financial data as of December 31, 2012 and March 31, 2013 presented in the following tables. These modifications were retrospectively applied to financial information for 2012 included in this summary and discussion, resulting in the restatement of our unaudited condensed consolidated financial data as of December 31, 2012 and for the three months ended March 31, 2012.

Results of operations as of and for the three months ended March 31, 2013 are not necessarily indicative of results to be expected for the full year.

Table of ContentsCondensed Consolidated Financial Data of América Móvil

The following tables set forth our unaudited condensed consolidated financial data for the three months ended March 31, 2012 and 2013 and as of December 31, 2012 and March 31, 2013.

References herein to U.S.$ are to U.S. dollars. References herein to Ps. are to Mexican pesos. U.S. dollar amounts in the tables are presented solely for convenience, using the exchange rate of Ps.12.3546 to U.S.$1.00, which was the rate reported by Banco de México at March 31, 2013, as published in the Official Gazette of the Federation (Diario Oficial de la Federación, or the Official Gazette). You should not construe these translations or any other currency translations included herein as representations that the Mexican peso amounts actually represent the U.S. dollar or other foreign currency amounts or could be converted into U.S. dollars or such other foreign currency at the rate used or indicated.

Certain figures included in this report on Form 6-K have been subject to rounding adjustments. Accordingly, figures shown as totals in certain tables may not be exact arithmetic aggregations of the figures that precede them.

Consolidated Results of Operations for the Three Months Ended March 31, 2013 and 2012

Our operations outside Mexico account for a significant portion of our revenues, and currency variations between the Mexican peso and the currencies of our non-Mexican subsidiaries, especially the Brazilian real, affect our results of operations as reported in Mexican pesos. In the following discussion regarding our operating revenues and operating costs and expenses, we include a discussion of the change in the different components of our revenues and cost and expenses between periods at constant exchange rates (i.e., using the same exchange rate to translate the local-currency results of our international operations for both periods). We believe that this additional information helps investors better understand the performance of our non-Mexican operations and their contribution to our consolidated results.

Operating Revenues

Total operating revenues for the first three months of 2013 increased by 0.2%, or Ps.0.5 billion, over the first three months of 2012. At constant exchange rates, total operating revenues for the first three months of 2013 increased by 6.1% over the first three months of 2012. This increase was principally attributable to increases in revenues from our mobile data and Pay TV, partially offset by a decrease in revenues from our mobile voice and fixed voice services.

Edgar Filing: AMERICA MOVIL SAB DE CV/ - Form 6-K

Mobile Voice Mobile voice revenues for the first three months of 2013 decreased by 8.1%, or Ps.5.9 billion, from the first three months of 2012. At constant exchange rates, mobile voice revenues for the first three months of 2013 decreased by 3.2% from the first three months of 2012. This decrease was principally due to a reduction in interconnection rates and revenues from long-distance services, as well as greater reliance on mobile data by our subscribers, as an alternative to mobile voice.

Fixed Voice Fixed voice revenues for the first three months of 2013 decreased by 11.6%, or Ps.3.8 billion, from the first three months of 2012. At constant exchange rates, fixed voice revenues for the first three months of 2013 decreased by 5.9% from the first three months of 2012. The decrease was principally due to a reduction in long-distance rates and lower interconnection rates.

Table of Contents

Mobile Data Mobile data revenues for the first three months of 2013 increased by 20.1%, or Ps.6.4 billion, over the first three months of 2012. At constant exchange rates, mobile data revenues for the first three months of 2013 increased by 25.6% over the first three months of 2012. The increase was principally due to increased use of services such as SMS messaging, web browsing and machine-to-machine services, as well as content downloading on handsets, tablets and notebooks. Mobile data represented 22.0% of our operating revenues for the first three months of 2013, compared to 18.0% for the first three months of 2012.

Fixed Data Fixed data revenues for the first three months of 2013 decreased by 0.6%, or Ps.0.1 billion, from the first three months of 2012. At constant exchange rates, fixed data revenues for the first three months of 2013 increased by 6.6% over the first three months of 2012. The increase was principally attributable to growth of residential-subscriber and broadband services, including growth of corporate data services, as well as growth in subscribers to our triple-play service packages.

Pay TV Pay TV revenues for the first three months of 2013 increased by 5.3%, or Ps.0.8 billion, over the first three months of 2012. At constant exchange rates, Pay TV revenues for the first three months of 2013 increased by 19.8% over the first three months of 2012. The increase was principally due to the introduction of new plans, principally triple-play service packages.

Other Services Revenues from other services for the first three months of 2013 increased by 16.2%, or Ps.3.2 billion, over the first three months of 2012. At constant exchange rates, revenues from other services for the first three months of 2013 increased by 19.6% over the first three months of 2012. This increase primarily reflects the growth in the number of handsets, accessories and computers sold as a result of the acquisition of new prepaid and postpaid subscribers.

Operating Costs and Expenses

Cost of sales and services Cost of sales and services for the first three months of 2013 increased by 5.7% over the first three months of 2012, representing 45.5% of operating revenues compared to 43.1% of operating revenues for the first three months of 2012. The Ps.4.7 billion increase for the first three months of 2013 principally reflects increases in both cost of services and cost of equipment, as explained below. At constant exchange rates, cost of sales and services for the first three months of 2013 increased by 12.3% over the first three months of 2012.

Cost of services increased by 5.1%, or Ps.2.9 billion, to Ps.60.3 billion for the first three months of 2013 from Ps.57.4 billion for the first three months of 2012. This increase was principally due to increased content charges as a result of the growth in our Pay TV business, increased costs to support the growth in our mobile data business and higher royalty payments, higher network maintenance and expansion, real estate leasing, as well as the higher costs of our value-added services. At constant exchange rates, cost of services for the first three months of 2013 increased by 13.0% over the first three months of 2013.

Cost of equipment increased by 7.0%, or Ps.1.8 billion, to Ps.27.5 billion for the first three months of 2013 from Ps.25.7 billion for the first three months of 2012. This increase primarily reflects the effect of new postpaid plans with higher consumer subsidies for increasingly more expensive handsets and accessories.

Commercial, administrative and general expenses Commercial, administrative and general expenses for the first three months of 2013 increased by 0.3%, or Ps.0.1 billion, over the first three months of 2012. This increase principally reflects higher costs for advertising and customer-care centers, including an expansion of physical customer-care centers and call-center services. As a percentage of operating revenues, commercial, administrative and general expenses for the first three months of 2013 was 21.0%, the same as for the first three months of 2012. At constant exchange rates, commercial, administrative and general expenses for the first three months of 2013 increased by 7.0% over the first three months of 2012.

Depreciation and amortization Depreciation and amortization for the first three months of 2013 decreased by 1.3%, or Ps.0.3 billion, from the first three months of 2012. As a percentage of revenues, depreciation and amortization for the first three months of 2013 decreased slightly to 13.0% compared to 13.3% for the first three months of 2012.

Operating Income

Operating income for the first three months of 2013 decreased by 10.1%, or Ps.4.3 billion, from the first three months of 2012. Operating margin (operating income as a percentage of operating revenues) for the first three months of 2013 was 20.0% compared to 22.3% for the first three months of 2012. This decrease in our operating margin for the first three months of 2013 was due principally to higher subscriber acquisition costs, increased content charges for our Pay TV business, higher royalty payments and increased costs to support the growth of our business, particularly our mobile data business.

Table of Contents

Non-Operating Items

Net Interest Expense Net interest expense (interest expense less interest income) for the first three months of 2013 increased by 10.7%, or Ps.0.5 billion, over the first three months of 2012, attributable to a higher level of net debt.

Exchange Gain, Net We recorded a net exchange gain of Ps.17.3 billion for the first three months of 2013, compared to a net exchange gain of Ps.19.3 billion for the first three months of 2012. The net exchange gain in the first three months of 2013 was primarily attributable to the appreciation of the Mexican peso against various currencies, particularly the U.S. dollar and the Brazilian real.

Valuation of Derivatives and Other Financial Items, Net The net change in valuation of derivatives and other financial items represented a loss of Ps.11.0 billion for the first three months of 2013, compared to a loss of Ps.10.1 billion for the first three months of 2012. This item principally reflected changes in the fair value of the derivative instruments we use to hedge against exchange rate risk on our indebtedness, reflecting the appreciation of the Mexican peso against various currencies.

Income Tax Our effective rate of provisions for corporate income tax as a percentage of profit before income tax was 32.3% for the first three months of 2013, compared to 31.3% for the first three months of 2012. Our effective tax rate differs from the Mexican statutory rate of 30%, principally because (a) in Mexico, for tax purposes we recognize a taxable gain attributable to the effects of inflation on our financial liabilities and (b) our operations outside Mexico are taxed separately in each jurisdiction, at varying rates. The increase in the effective tax rate for the first three months of 2013 was primarily due to a higher level of taxable inflationary effects and to a higher share of taxable income of certain non-Mexican subsidiaries.

Net Profit

We recorded net profit of Ps.26.9 billion for the first three months of 2013, a decrease of 17.8%, or Ps.5.8 billion, from the first three months of 2012. This decrease primarily reflected lower operating income and a smaller exchange gain.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of March 31, 2013, we had net debt (total debt minus cash and cash equivalents) of Ps.364.0 billion, compared to Ps.372.2 billion as of December 31, 2012. As of March 31, 2013, cash and cash equivalents amounted to Ps.37.0 billion, compared to Ps.45.5 billion as of December 31, 2012.

Our total indebtedness as of March 31, 2013 was Ps.401.0 billion, of which Ps.21.7 billion was short-term debt (including the current portion of long-term debt). Without considering the effect of hedging instruments used to manage our interest rate and foreign exchange exposures, approximately Ps.193.3 billion, or 48.2%, of our total indebtedness as of March 31, 2013 was denominated in U.S. dollars. Approximately Ps.27.1 billion, or 6.8%, of our total indebtedness at that date, bore interest at variable rates, while approximately Ps.373.9 billion, or 93.2%, bore interest at fixed rates. The maturities of our long-term debt as of March 31, 2013 were as follows:

Years	Amount (in millions of Mexican pesos)
2014	Ps. 13,591
2015	36,357
2016	41,108
2017	29,643
2018 and thereafter	258,605
Total	Ps. 379,304

We regularly assess our interest rate and foreign exchange exposures, and we often manage those exposures by using derivative financial instruments. As of March 31, 2013, the net fair value of our derivatives and other financial items was a net liability of Ps.10.5 billion.

Edgar Filing: AMERICA MOVIL SAB DE CV/ - Form 6-K

During the first three months of 2013, we used approximately Ps.20.4 billion to fund capital expenditures, including for new 4G or LTE technology, network deployment and network capacity. We have also continued to repurchase shares of our capital stock under our share repurchase program: during the first three months of 2013, we repurchased approximately 1.4 billion Series L shares and 159.2 thousand Series A shares for an aggregate purchase price of Ps.16.0 billion. In the second quarter of 2013, we repurchased approximately 2.3 billion shares for an aggregate purchase price of approximately Ps.30.0 billion.

In the following discussion of our segment results of operations, we use certain operating measures that are not included in our financial statements. The principal such measures are:

ARPU average revenues per user. This measure analyzes revenues from mobile data and voice services. We calculate ARPU for a given period by dividing service revenues for such period on a local-currency basis by the simple average number of wireless subscribers for such period. The figure includes both prepaid and postpaid customers.

MOUs average minutes of use per user. This measure analyzes usage of wireless services. We calculate MOUs by dividing total wireless traffic in a given period by the simple average number of wireless subscribers for such period.

Churn This measure analyzes the rate at which customers disconnect from our services (wireless or fixed). We calculate churn rate as the total number of customer disconnections for a period divided by total subscribers at the beginning of such period. For wireless customers, postpaid subscribers are considered disconnected at the expiration of their contracts or earlier if they voluntarily discontinue service, and prepaid customers are considered disconnected following a specified period of time after they become delinquent, or a specified period after they cease using our service, so long as they have not activated a calling card or received traffic.

Table of Contents

The following discussion addresses the financial performance of each of our operating segments by comparing results for the first three months of 2013 and 2012. In the period-to-period comparisons for each segment, we include percentage changes in operating revenues, percentage changes in operating income and operating margin (operating income as a percentage of operating revenues). We also include percentage changes in adjusted segment operating revenues, percentage changes in adjusted segment operating income, and adjusted operating margin (adjusted operating income as a percentage of adjusted operating revenues). The adjustments eliminate (a) certain intersegment transactions, (b) the effects of exchange rate changes, and (c) revenues and costs of group corporate activities and other businesses that are allocated to the Mexico segment.

Mexico

Mexico segment operating revenues for the first three months of 2013 increased by 0.7% over the first three months of 2012. Adjusted segment operating revenues increased by 0.1%. Mobile voice and fixed voice revenues for the first three months of 2013 decreased by 9.7% and 6.7%, respectively, from the first three months of 2012, principally due to larger discounts and promotions for our customers. Mobile data revenues increased by 13.1% over the first three months of 2012, offsetting the decreases in mobile and fixed voice revenues and allowing operating revenues to remain stable.

MOUs for the first three months of 2013 increased by 10.2% over the first three months of 2012.
