The following is a communication sent by Andrew N. Liveris, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of The Dow Chemical Company ( Dow ), to Dow employees on May 23, 2016.

This afternoon, Dow and DuPont announced the next level of senior leadership appointments for DowDuPont (HoldCo), the holding company that will be formed when Dow and DuPont merge together. These appointments, and others to be determined at a later date, will be effective upon completion of the proposed transaction, which is expected in the second half of this year.

Senior leadership appointments announced today include:

Howard Ungerleider will become Chief Financial Officer for DowDuPont. Ungerleider is currently Vice Chairman and Chief Financial Officer of Dow, with executive oversight for Dow AgroSciences, Dow's Corporate Strategy Development, Corporate Planning, Finance, Information Technology & Business Services. In addition, he will serve as Chairman of Dow Corning, pending the successful close of Dow's ownership restructuring of this joint venture on June 1.

Stacy Fox will become General Counsel for DowDuPont. Fox is currently Senior Vice President and General Counsel for DuPont.

Charles J. Kalil will become Special Counsellor to the Executive Chairman of DowDuPont, as well as General Counsel for the Material Science business. Kalil is currently Executive Vice President and General Counsel of Dow.

Jim Fitterling, currently President and Chief Operating Officer for Dow, will become Chief Operating Officer for DowDuPont's Material Science business, which DowDuPont intends to separate as a leading, independent, pure-play industry leader, subject to approval by the DowDuPont board. The Material Science business, to be named Dow, will consist of Dow's Performance Plastics, Performance Materials & Chemicals, Infrastructure Solutions, and Consumer Solutions (excluding the Dow Electronic Materials business) operating segments, as well as DuPont's Performance Materials segment. It will also include Dow Corning Silicones, pending the successful close of Dow's ownership restructuring of this joint venture on June 1.

James C. Collins, Jr., currently Executive Vice President for DuPont and leader of DuPont's Agriculture business segment, will become Chief Operating Officer for DowDuPont's Agriculture business, which DowDuPont also intends to separate as a leading, independent, pure-play agricultural company, subject to approval by the DowDuPont board. The Agriculture business will unite DuPont's and Dow's Seed and Crop Protection businesses.

Marc Doyle, currently Executive Vice President and leader of DuPont's Electronics & Communications, Industrial Biosciences, Nutrition & Health, Performance Materials and Safety & Protection businesses, will become Chief Operating Officer for DowDuPont's Specialty Products business, which DowDuPont intends to separate as a technology driven innovative leader, subject to approval by the DowDuPont board. The Specialty Products business will include DuPont's Nutrition & Health, Industrial Biosciences, Safety & Protection and Electronics & Communications, as well as the Dow Electronic Materials business.

As announced in an earlier release, Edward Breen and I will serve as CEO and Executive Chairman, respectively.

This leadership announcement marks another major milestone in the transaction process and in our continued transformation into a high-growth company. It means we are one step closer to capturing The Power of 3 as the value that will be unlocked as a result of the transaction and separation into three intended independent companies redefining their respective industries. Of course, even as we congratulate these leaders on their appointments, our primary focus must remain, as always, on delivering against our 2016 priorities.

As I stated in the broadcast earlier this month, I am very proud of your continued efforts. And you should be, too. Together, we have what it takes to elevate Dow to the next level of value growth.

Best Regards,

Andrew N. Liveris

Chairman and Chief Executive Officer

The Dow Chemical Company

Important risk factors that may cause such a difference include, but are not limited to, (i) the completion of the proposed transaction on anticipated terms and timing, including obtaining shareholder and regulatory approvals, anticipated tax treatment, unforeseen liabilities, future capital expenditures, revenues, expenses, earnings, synergies, economic performance, indebtedness, financial condition, losses, future prospects, business and management strategies for the management, expansion and growth of the new combined company's operations and other conditions to the completion of the merger, (ii) the ability of Dow and DuPont to integrate the business successfully and to achieve anticipated synergies, risks and costs and pursuit and/or implementation of the potential separations, including anticipated timing, any changes to the configuration of businesses included in the potential separation if implemented, (iii) the intended separation of the agriculture, material science and specialty products businesses of the combined company post-mergers in one or more tax efficient transactions on anticipated terms and timing, including a number of conditions which could delay, prevent or otherwise adversely affect the proposed transactions, including possible issues or delays in obtaining required regulatory approvals or clearances, disruptions in the financial markets or other potential barriers, (iv) potential litigation relating to the proposed transaction that could be instituted against Dow, DuPont or their respective directors, (v) the risk that disruptions from the proposed transaction will harm Dow's or DuPont's business, including current plans and operations, (vi) the ability of Dow or DuPont to retain and hire key personnel, (vii) potential adverse reactions or changes to business relationships resulting from the announcement or completion of the merger, (viii) uncertainty as to the long-term value of DowDuPont common stock, (ix) continued availability of capital and financing and rating agency actions, (x) legislative, regulatory and economic developments, (xi) potential business uncertainty, including changes to existing business relationships, during the pendency of the merger that could affect Dow's and/or DuPont's financial performance, (xii) certain restrictions during the pendency of the merger that may impact Dow's or DuPont's ability to pursue certain business opportunities or strategic transactions and (xiii) unpredictability and severity of catastrophic events, including, but not limited to, acts of terrorism or outbreak of war or hostilities, as well as management's response to any of the aforementioned factors. These risks, as well as other risks associated with the proposed merger, are more fully discussed in the joint proxy statement/prospectus included in the Preliminary Registration Statement filed with the SEC in connection with the proposed merger. While the list of factors presented here is, and the list of factors presented in the Preliminary Registration Statement are, considered representative, no such list should be considered to be a complete statement of all potential risks and uncertainties. Unlisted factors may present significant additional obstacles to the realization of forward looking statements. Consequences of material differences in results as compared with those anticipated in the forward-looking statements could include, among other things, business disruption, operational problems, financial loss, legal liability to third parties and similar risks, any of which could have a material adverse effect on Dow's or DuPont's consolidated financial condition, results of operations, credit rating or liquidity. Neither Dow nor DuPont assumes any obligation to publicly provide revisions or updates to any forward looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future developments or otherwise, should circumstances change, except as otherwise required by securities and other applicable laws.
