PART III NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail why Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

The annual report on Form 10-K of Collins Industries (the Company) for the period ended October 31, 2004 could not be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on a timely basis without unreasonable effort or expense in light of the circumstances described below.

Company management and the Audit Committee of its Board of Directors are investigating and analyzing the Company's manner of establishing reserves in various specific workers' compensation cases. The investigation is not complete and may result in changes to workers' compensation reserves. If material, such amounts would likely result in a restatement of previously issued financial statements. The decision to delay filing of the Form 10-K for the period ended October 31, 2004 was made to permit the Company's management and Audit Committee to complete the investigation and analysis, and to allow its outside auditors sufficient time to complete the audit of the Company's October 31, 2004 financial statements.

If answer is no, identify report(s). Yes No

Is it anticipated that any significant change in results of operations from the corresponding period for the last fiscal year will be reflected by the earnings statements to be included in the subject report or portion thereof? Yes No

If so, attach an explanation of the anticipated change, both narratively and quantitatively, and, if appropriate, state the reasons why a reasonable estimate of the results cannot be made.

Prior to completion of the investigation and analysis of various workers' compensation cases described in response to Part III, above, a number of which involve portions of the fiscal year ended October 31, 2003, the Company is unable to reasonably estimate the significant change, if any, in results of operations for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2003.
