Dear Global Services Colleagues,

On Monday, we announced our merger with Schering-Plough, our long-term partner, to create a new, stronger global healthcare leader uniquely positioned for success with a formidable research and development pipeline, a significantly broader portfolio of medicines and an expanded presence in key international markets, particularly in high-growth emerging markets.

A merger of this size is not typical for our company. But I am fully confident that we will not only successfully integrate Schering-Plough into Merck, we will also be able to quickly benefit from our combined capabilities across products, pipeline and people.

Many of you may have questions about what this merger will mean for our division, and for your work. First of all, it's important to remember that we are still separate companies, and will remain so until the transaction closes later this year. We still need to deliver on our commitments, and we still need to remain focused on our goals. We will be continuing our efforts around COMET in the U.S., the global implementation of Hire-to-Retire, and the launch of the new intranet portal worldwide. We also must keep our heads down and stay focused on the work we already have under way in Facilities Management as well as the important initiatives we are committed to within each of our groups.

In spite of this, there will be initiatives we slow down or no longer pursue to allow us to thoughtfully integrate our companies. For example, Executive Committee has already made the decision to delay our COMET implementations outside the U.S., until we have an opportunity to evaluate the impact of the merger on our current plans and timing.

I will share more information on this topic at an upcoming Town Hall meeting, which is currently being scheduled. I encourage all of you to plan to attend, to hear more about what our combination with Schering-Plough will bring to our mission.

I hope you share with me the same level of excitement and expectation about this combination. I am sure you are proud to be part of this significant milestone in the history of our company and will join me as we create a new, stronger healthcare leader.

Sincerely,

Chris
