Amsterdam, The Netherlands (April 26, 2004) The Board of Directors of CNH Global N.V (NYSE:CNH) today elected Katherine Hudson as the company's new non-executive chairman of the board to replace retiring chairman, Jean-Pierre Rosso. Director Michael Murphy, formerly vice chairman and CFO of Sarah Lee Corporation, was elected chairman of CNH's Audit Committee, replacing Hudson. Director James Provan was elected chairman of CNH's Nominating and Compensation Committee.

The appointment of outside directors to chair the Board of Directors and its two key committees is intended to strengthen the independence of the Board. Michael Murphy joined the CNH Board in September 2002; James Provan joined the Board of New Holland N.V. at the time of its IPO in 1996, and has served on the CNH Board since the merger in 1999.

At today's Annual General Meeting, the shareholders of the company elected three new board members to fill vacancies left by departing inside directors. Elected to the board today were three senior executives of majority shareholder Fiat: Luigi Gubitosi (42) CFO of the Fiat Group; Luciano Soldi (56), the Group's general counsel; and Eugenio Razelli (53) senior vice president for business development and strategy. The three replace retiring chairman Jean-Pierre Rosso and two former Fiat executives who had resigned from the board.

Luigi Gubitosi was appointed Chief Financial Officer of Fiat S.p.A. in January 2004. From September 2000 to December 2003, he was Senior Vice President & Group Treasurer of Fiat S.p.A. and CEO of Fiat GeVa. From 1998 to 2000, he was Senior Vice-President & Treasurer of Fiat GeVa. From 1994 to 1997 he was International Treasurer of Fiat GeVa and prior to that President of Fiat Finance USA in New York from 1990 to 1994. He joined Fiat's International Finance Department in 1986.

Gubitosi holds an MBA from Insead and completed his undergraduate studies at the University of Naples and the London School of Economics. A Chartered Financial Analyst, Luigi is past Chairman of The European Advocacy Committee of AIMR. He is Chairman of Fiat GeVa, Fiat's in-house bank centralizing the financial activities of the Group and sits on the boards of various companies, including Iveco, La Stampa, Sicind, Cometa (the largest Italian pension fund).
