The following video message was sent to Cigna employees:

- Well we have a lot going on...
And I'm sure you have some questions ...anxiety...and some uncertainty
I understand that
And I want to frame what the combination means to all of us...our customers, clients and producers...and our future.
- First, I want to frame our history a bit and how we arrived here.
- During my 24 years at Cigna, time and again I've seen our ability to evolve as a company for the good – to make things better for our business, for our customers and for our clients.
- In doing so, we've carried on a proud Cigna tradition: from our beginning nearly 200 years ago, our founders instilled in us the DNA to embrace change and to make sure Cigna was always prepared to meet the ever-evolving needs of consumers.
- From whichever point in Cigna's history you joined us, each of you helped us build on this tradition and to continue on our journey.
- As a result, today our company is stronger than ever before, with great accomplishments in our recent past 6 plus years ... and ...over our 200 plus years!
- And more opportunities in our future.
- More specifically, we will continue to succeed because we continue to believe in our journey of helping those we serve improve their health, well-being and sense of security – every day.
- Now, we have the opportunity...by combining with Anthem, to redouble our efforts to build a global health care service company and be an accelerant for improving health care and related services in markets around the world.
- I want to take some time to discuss what this announcement means for our customers, our company and for you.
- We will have the ability to serve more than 53 million medical customers and continue to expand our capabilities in over 30 countries.
- This combination gives both of us the local market presence and capabilities to deliver greater choice, access and affordability to meet the challenges of a new era.
- We are experiencing the most dynamic marketplace in decades:
Across the globe with reforming health and sick programs
Changing distribution platforms like public, private exchanges, AND digital distribution marketplaces

Rapidly changing value-based care reimbursement arrangements;

New technologies enabling health interactions, new internet-based business insurance and service businesses

- It's up to us to help build a better health care ecosystem that produces better results.
- We had the opportunity to either watch the marketplace change, or to be action oriented and lean in and help to shape the marketplace to the benefit of our customers and providers.
- We chose the latter and created a path that will accelerate our strategic plan.
- I believe with a combination we will have the ability to accelerate even more meaningful change for our customers and partners around the world.
- Cigna and Anthem are complementary businesses that bring together a range of expertise that make the whole system better and deep local models in 14 states.
- Anthem brings best-in-class Medicaid capabilities and leading individual presence.
- And we bring our consumer engagement and health advocacy capabilities, premier specialty portfolio and broad geographic U.S. and international presence.
- This combination with Anthem will accelerate our efforts to meet the challenges and capture the opportunities that are being created by a rapidly evolving health care marketplace.
- Most importantly, the combination allows us to better serve our customers by increasing efforts on our two driving imperatives:
 - making health care both more affordable and more personalized.
- As you can imagine, there is a lot for us to do over the many months as we prepare to bring the two companies together.
- Let me address a few points that I know you're all thinking about.
- You may be wondering, what's next?
- You should not see any immediate changes to your day-to-day business as a result of this announcement.
- Business within the two companies will be conducted as usual because the companies remain separate and independent until closing.
- Only a handful of people of the company will be authorized to work with Anthem leaders on integration planning due to the long regulatory process we have ahead.
- You should continue to work only with Cigna employees.
- Our competitors and how we compete does not change.

- Our priority remains to serve customers, operate efficiently and conduct business the right way each and every day.
- Managers will meet with their teams on a regular basis and reinforce their expectations for business and functional areas.

- We expect closing will occur in 12-18 months.
- We will continue on our present, positive path until the regulatory reviews are complete and we receive the necessary clearances.
- I'm pleased to say that you will find that both companies are committed to deliver affordability, choice and personalization.
- Together, with Joe Swedish, I will co-lead the integration planning of the two companies and after the expected close, become our new company President and Chief Operating Officer leading all business segments around the world.
- As we move forward we will be sharing new developments with you. In the meantime, you can find more information on Your Cigna Life.
- We all have lots to do before the end of the year to meet our 2015 goals. Until closing, which we expect will be late 2016, we remain a separate and independent company, so let's compete to win and maintain our focus on delivering the excellent service our customers and partners expect from us.
- Thank you all for being such a high performing team.
- We could not have gotten to this day without your hard work and dedication – and we need your continued dedication to achieving our mission as we work together to integrate two companies with proud histories and a bright future.
